

Preparation of condensed resins in powder form

Abstract

- 5 In a spray condensation process for the preparation of dried resins in powder form, the condensation of at least one crosslinkable starting material which is liquid or dissolved in a liquid phase with at least one aldehyde is carried out in a spray reactor.